

C. & O. DEPOT

All Differences Have Been Reconciled.

HARMONY PREVAILS.

FULL EXPLANATIONS ARE MADE

The Railroads Will Comply With the Request of the Sub-Committee on Streets, Which, They Agree, are Only Reasonable.
Over the Route.

The differences between the sub-Committee on Streets and the representatives of the Chesapeake and Ohio and Richmond, Petersburg and Carolina railroads have been satisfactorily adjusted, and the great improvement which means so much to Richmond is now almost an assured fact.

The whole trouble, it seems, arose from a misapprehension, which was removed by subsequent explanations on both sides.

The railroad people formed the idea that the committee wanted complete and elaborate plans of the proposed depot. These they were not prepared to give, and said so very emphatically. The committee, on its part, which was mittie insisted on its position, which was totally misunderstood by the other side, and the result was considerable bad feeling, and adjournment without accomplishing anything.

EXPLANATIONS MADE.

Subsequently, however, Mr. F. C. Ebele, chairman of the sub-committee, was seen by both Messrs. Axtell and Williams, re-by both Messrs. Astor and Williams, representing the two lines, and he explained to them, calmly and dispassionately, that the committee only wanted facts and figures easily given, and by which they could be guided. Both gentlemen at once recognized the justice of the position assumed by the committee, and professed willingness to comply with its request.

Such is the status of the matter at present, and there will be another meeting of the sub-committee whenever the information desired is ready, which will probably be before very long.

OVER THE ROUTE.

Mr. Axtell and Colonel Cutshaw were out a portion of yesterday morning going over the route of the proposed line.

The understanding arrived at all around seems perfect, and while the dimensions of the proposed depot have not yet been officially given out, yet they are said to be perfectly satisfactory to the committee, and will meet the approval of the general public.

Several prominent white men in the county have been threatened by the gang and they are so terrorized that they will not leave home at night.

Superior Court convenes here Monday and the affair will be investigated thoroughly.
